

We are so thankful that you have chosen to worship with us today. If you are visiting let me welcome you and ask that you please fill out a Connection card found in the pew and return it to an usher at some point today. I'm sure that you are grateful for the snow and cold to be behind us today.

Today is Sanctity of Human Life Sunday. In 1984, President Reagan issued a proclamation marking January 22 as a day of remembrance for the lives lost through abortion. If you would allow me to be honest for a moment, I hate Sanctity of Life Sunday. Now, before you misunderstand what I mean by that statement, let me explain. I hate that we live in such a fallen world where killing an unborn child is celebrated as a right. I hate that we have such a low view of God's creation that we seek to destroy it when it isn't accommodating to our plans. I hate that we have to raise money and awareness to protect the unborn. Today, while we sing and I preach, a mother and possibly a father will walk into a clinic in Memphis, where they will murder an innocent child. No one will notice and for the most part, no one will care. Yet, I can assure you that God will notice and He will care. He loves that mother and father. He loves that precious child, whom He created and has specific purpose for. Yet my hatred for this day doesn't change it. Burying our heads in the sand won't change it. So let me call you to join me in praying for change. Pray for our President to demand strong steps toward defunding Planned Parenthood, strengthen laws and elect pro-life judges to future appointments. Let me call you to give to local crisis pregnancy centers who work with at risk pregnancy to save the life of the unborn. Pick up a baby bottle today and add your loose change to it over the next month because change really does change lives! Let me call you to educate yourself to the horror of abortion by visiting abort73.com (unfiltered look at abortion).

Today we will begin a new series on the subject of LOVE. Over the next 5 weeks we will discover how LOVE is so much more than a favorite descriptor of all good things. Because of the LOVE Jesus has shown us, what does it look like for us to be people who in turn, LOVE?

For His Glory,
Pastor Justin
